Michael McFarland is a good soldier, said Judge Hitt in police court yesterday after he had sent him to jail. McFarland appeared before the judge Tuesday charged with being drunk. The judge told him he was tired of sending him to jail. McFarland was tired of it, too, he admitted.

Judge Hitt then offered to sentence McFarland to a stiff term in jail and suspend sentence pending good behavior. When McFarland accepted, Judge Hitt sentenced him to pay a fine of $50 or serve $90 days in jail and to serve a straight $0-day sentence. He then suspended sentence with the condition that McFarland would take his medicine like a soldier if he returned.

When McFarland appeared again yesterday he marched up to the bench and pleaded guilty without an argument. The judge tacked on an extra 30-day jail sentence and an extra the of $100 or 90 days and started McFarland to Occoquan. "He was a good soldier." Judge Hitt said; "he took his medicine without a murmur."

They robbed the express coach of 200,000 pesos, but did not lock the passengers in the burning coaches, as was stated in previous reports. After robbing the passengers they ordered them to leave the coaches, which were then set afire.

Some of the passengers and soldiers, however, were so severely wounded as to be unable to move. These were left within the coaches and were burned to death. Three wounded soldiers survived of the military escort, these three saving their lives by discarding their insignia and posing as civilians.

Senator McKellar, with ten years' service in the Senate behind him, came to that body at the end of the feud which raged so long between Senator Luke Lea and former Gov. Ham Patterson. Senator McKellar, then a comparatively young man with only five years' service in the House behind him, entered a three-cornered race with these two major figures of Tennessee politics in 1916. The contest between Lea and Patterson was so bitter that Senator McKellar was the compromise choice of the majority of the voters. In his second campaign Senator McKellar defeated G. T. Fitzhugh, a prominent Memphis lawyer.

Kellar defeated G. T. Fitznigh, a promi-ment Memphis lawyer, ing that Sena-tor McKellar has built some exceed-ingly strong political fences in the ten years that he has been in the Senate. He has specialized in his activities for the veterans and has built up an ef-fective organization.

Senator Bayard spoke also on the pending bill to establish the Department of Education and denounced it soundly. He contended it would mean making the minds of American children into one mold. The senator predicted in closing that if the child labor amendment were adopted it never President Awards Medals.

A picturesque feature of the reception was the awarding by President Coolidge, as honorary president of the United States Flag association, of that organization's American Cross of Honor to Mrs. Brosseau, president general of the D. A. R. Incidentally, this was the first time in history that a President of the United States was ever awarded a decoration other than those bestowed by the government. The award carries with it the title of "Lady of the Flag," and life membership in the Order of the Flag, the "Legion of Honor" of the United States Flag association. Award of the same decoration was also made to Mrs. Joseph and Orsdel, of Washington, national president of the Children of the American Revolution; Mrs. Edwin C. Gregory, of Salisbury, N. C., North Carolina State regent D. A. R., and Mrs. Joseph B. Tate, Asheville, N. C., regent of Edward Buncombe chapter D. A. R.

Freeman Addresses Delegates.

The Rt. Rev. James E. Freeman, bishop of Washington, and the Very Rev. G. C. F. Bratenahl greeted the 1,500 delegates to the congress who made a pilgrimage to Washington cathedral immediately after the reception at the White House. The pilgrimage was led by Mrs. Brosseau and Mrs. George Maynard Minor, honorary president ceneral and members of the president general, and members of the Bishop Freeman spoke briefly to the delegates in Bethlehem chapel. He said the great need of the hour was the type of Christian patriotism which the D. A. R. possess in such a high degree and that the most serious situation in the country at present was the attack on Christian institutions which had its genesis in Russia in the organized attack on all religion there.

"The D. A. R. stands for the integrity and sanctity of the home," said the bishop, "and will do their utmost to preserve this. When that spirit goes out of a nation, nothing remains, and I am sûre that the D. A. R. will do its best not to have a catastrophe overtake this land." Bishop Freeman spoke briefly to the delegates in Bethlehem chapel. He

The bishop told the delegates they should feel a sense of gratitude because of the Christian character of the men in American public life.

Miss Gregory Gives Talk.

How to combat the subversive forces undermining America was the general theme of last night's national defense session of the thirty-sixth Continental congress, D. A. R., now in its fifth day's session at the auditorium.

While the delegates awaited the report of the chairman of tellers who were wrestling with the task of tabulating the thousands of ballots, many of them much split, noted speakers of the service and leaders in the D. A. R. work for national defense told of work needed along this line.

A strong plea for adherence to the constitutional principles was made by Mrs. Edwin C. Gregory, daughter of Senator Lee Overman of North Carolins, and national chairman of legislation for the D. A. R. In her report Mrs. Gregory gave details of the methods of approach to influence Congress for certain legislation approved or initiated by the D. A. R. Mrs. Gregory pointed out the care she had taken to preserve the prestige of the D. A. R. in congressional circles and stated that the best method of obtaining interest of senators and representatives was to mail or send resolutions and petitions to them and then await invitation to appear in person.

States Rights Touched On.

The question of State rights and con attutional amendments was touched on in an historical way in Mrs. Gregory's report, and she declared that from December 4, 1889, to July 2, 1926, 1,316 proposed amendments to the Constitution had been introduced in Congress. She urged all D. A. PHILBIN RESIGNATION Authority to Make It April 20, Instead of April 30, Challenged by Official.

CHARGES MADE ATTACK ACTIONS AND POLICIES

Functions Declared Automatically Withdrawn; Ship Sales Seemingly Discouraged,

(By the Associated Press.) Final action on J. Harry Philbin's esignation as vice president and trusof the Merchant Fleet Corporation was taken yesterday by the Shipping Board. The board ratified the acceptance by President Dalton, of the fleet corporation, of his assistant's resignation, upholding Dalton in the face of Philbin's challenge that he did not have power to accept the resignation or to change the date on which it was intended to become effective.

Philbin offered his resignation in a letter to President Dalton, asking that it be made effective April 30. Dalton, in accepting it, advanced the date to April 20.

In a letter accompanying his resignation.

In a letter accompanying his resigation, which he made public late yes-nation, which he made public late yes-terday, Philbin told the Shipping Board that the situation prevailing in the Merchant Fleet Corporation was, in his judgment, "incompatible with the pub-lic interest."

Mrs. Walker gave a comprehensive report of the year's work of her committee, which was appointed by Mrs. Brosseau after a recommendation of the national board of management to establish such a national committee. Mrs. Walker declared her committee had two objectives, the support of adequate national defense and the counteracting of subversive influences. She pointed out that new duties were at hand for the D. Capt. Darte named a number of "pinks" whom, he said, Will Irwin forgot to mention. He declared there were 300 organized groups in this country seeking to "undermine our social, political and economic system." That "liberial clubs" exist in more than 200 colleges also was claimed by Capt. Darte, and that much work was being done by subversive groups against military training in educational institutions. Tais fight is communist inspired, he declared. He said the barring of Frederick J. Libby, superpacifist, "now a Quaker," from the public schools of the District as a speaker was a matter of "congratulations to the District." Capt. PRESIDENT MACHADO'S VISIT.

The United States is pleased to welcome the President of Cuba, Mr. Gerardo Machado, who arrives this morning in Washington accompanied by a party of distinguished Cubans. President Machado will visit several American cities during his stay in this country. would be a pleasure to Americans if he would extend his trip throughout the country.

The relations between Cuba and the United States advertise to the whole world the falsity of the charge that the United States selfishly seeks its own interests at the expense of smaller nations in this hemisphere. Allegations such as those made by Senator King in regard to Haiti and by others in regard to Nicaragua and Mexico are made ridiculous by the history of Cuba since 1898. If there is any country that would appeal to American cupidity and imperialism it is Cuba. If the United States had any desire to encroach upon neighboring peoples it would encroach upon the Cubans. But it has steadfastly befriended Cuba, aided it to maintain its independence, and desires above everything else in regard to Cuba that its people shall be independent and prosperous.

The intimate commercial relations between Cuba and the United States not only warrant the exceptional tariff arrangements that have existed for many years, but are now sufficient warrant for a revision of the arrangement for the mutual benefit of the two nations. Trade should be liberalized to a still greater degree. Cuba's products are necessities to the United States, and a still larger market exists for them here; while American products are necessities to Cuba and should be consumed in much larger quantities.

Under President Machado the welfare of Cuba has been greatly enhanced. His own character and abilities and the character of the men composing his administration are such as to establish confidence and justify foreign investments in Cuba. The country is blessed with fruitfulness and a delightful climate. It should have a much larger population. If populated with no more density than the population of Porto Rico, Cuba would contain 15,000,000 or more inhabitants. It could easily support and make prosperous a population of

The advantageous geographical position of Cuba makes its growth in population and riches a certainty. It is attracting a heavier stream of tourists every year from the United States. All of these tourists arrive at Havana as strangers and leave as friends of the Cuban nation. The welfare of Cuba becomes their personal concern.

Every consideration of history and present interest calls for the cultivation of the closest relations between the United States and Cuba.

ALOYD GEORGE'S LAND CAMPAIGN.

David Lloyd George has heretofore given ample evidence of his determination to stick to a policy even when it was not popular. He has shown it in a marked degree in connection with the land program which some time ago he put before the British electorate. That program was received with jeers by his political opponents and, in the beginning at least, it aroused but little enthusiasm among many of his liberal friends and followers. But he has kept at it with grim resolve, and at the seventh meeting of the council of his Land and Nation league, held the other day, he was able to announce a substantial advance, due largely to widespread organization and intensive application to the matter in hand. His land campaign was launched eighteen months ago, and between then and now nearly 15,000 public meetings have been held. No such systematic propaganda has been conducted in Britain since the palmy days of the agitation for the repeal of the corn laws, and Mr George was able to boast that villages into which the liberal gospel had never previously penetrated had been visited by the trained speakers of the league, with results that were if the most encouraging character

It was, of course, a great feather in his cap that his land proposals are no longer the scheme of individuals or committees, but have been officially incorporated in the platform of his party. That incorporation he claimed to be the ultimate guarantee of their acceptance, sooner or later, by the nation as a whole, for any reform, once indorsed by the liberal body, had never failed to find its place in the long run on the statute book.

Lloyd George was also heartened by the recent successes achieved by his party at the polls in by-elections. "A few weeks ago," he said, "there would have been a guffaw, and a loud one, at my treating any act of the liberal party as if it had a national significance. Those sneers are now much fainter." He derived further encouragement from the fact that parts of his program had been filched by his political opponents, as proved by their in troduction into the house of commons of land bills which, but for his antecedent action, would never have seen the light of day. His greatest glory, however, was in the changed attitude of the press. He rejoiced to see that problem of saving agriculture and the countryside from the creeping paralysis of decay and ruin had increased 40 per cent since the publication of the Green Book, containing the aims and methods of the Land and Nation league.

Lloyd George has certainly made great progress with his plans for land reform in the short space of a year and a half. His announced intention is to assist in the return of liberal candidates at the next election who will use their vote and influence in the next parliament to carry his proposals unimpaired through the legislature. It is a bold resolve; but it has in it some of the elements of promise

KING AND THE CONSTITUTION.

The Reed "slush fund" committee is traveling a rocky road in trying to survive in spite of the expiration of the Congress that created it. The authorities of Delaware county, Pa., disputed the authority of the committee to take over ballots cast at the November election, and Judge Thompson, of the United States district court in Philadelphia, is now considering the question whether the committee is in existence or not.

The point was made by the Delaware county authorities that the Reed committee had no right to appoint Jerry South as its agent, since the Senate resolution specifically designated the sergeant at arms of the Senate as the committee's agent. Thereupon Senator King, of Utah, recently returned from the closed door of Haiti, advised the court that he and Senator La Follette were there in person, representing the committee, to demand the ballot boxes. He argued the question as to whether or not the Senate is a continuing body, holding that it was, and that as a consequence the Reed committee was empowered to carry on until discharged. "How could we carry out the resolution and preserve the ballots unless we continue legally to exist?" asked the Utah states-Then, according to the Associated Press. he took this astounding position:

Senator King argued that every member of the Senate is an officer of the United States and therefore entitled to bring action in the Federal courts on behalf of the United States government.

If Senator King is right, the Constitution is all wrong and must be amended again. That hoary and dilapidated document declares that "no person holding any office under the United States shall be a member of either house." It also provides that "all civil officers of the United States shall be removed from office on impeachment for and conviction of treason.' &c. It also provides that the President shall appoint "all other officers of the United States whose appointment is not herein otherwise provided for."

Is Senator King an officer of the United States, and also acting as a senator? If so, the Reed committee should turn its inquiring eye in the direction of Officer King, or Senator King, with a view to his impeachment or expulsion, as the case may be. The committee should also investigate the question whether President Coolidge, in an inadvertent moment. has appointed a United States senator an officer of the United States. Perhaps another impeachment case might be developed here.

Of course, if Senator King is right, he will enjoy a great advantage in the event that he should be impeached for high crimes and misdemeanors in his capacity as an officer of the United States, for as a senator he would sit in judgment in his own case, and perhaps, like Andrew Johnson, escape impeachment by a sin-

WASHINGTON, BY ALL MEANS.

The suggestion by the Hon. Carter Glass. of Virginia, that the next Democratic national convention should be held in Washington is one of the most admirable of all the public utterances of that distinguished statesman. It has already rung through the country, and if the Democratic leaders do not hear and heed it they are lacking in the elementary requirements of statecraft.

Washington is all that Senator Glass has claimed for it; and more. It is preeminently the place where a Democratic national convention should be held. It is the natural objective of all Democrats and the repository of all that is notable in the history of that party. Its balmy climate, its unrivaled provisions for comfort and luxury, its spacious auditorium, its central position and accessibility, and its facilities for the dissemination of news constitute a set of qualifications that renders the claim of any other city contemptible by comparison. Here, in this Capital, the Democrats of the United States should assemble and choose from their number the candidate who is to lead the campaign of 1928. Let this candidate be named in the very shadow of the White House Let him be surrounded by the power and majesty of the government that he expects to administer. Let the delegates feast their eyes upon the glorious memorials of the nation and revel in the anticipated occupation of imposing buildings from which they will send the impulses of governmental authority. Amid such scenes, with such inspirations, the Demo cratic party can not fail to name a paragon for President.

JURY FEES AND JURY TRIALS.

Judge Schuldt, of the local police court, would very much like to dispose of a num ber of thousand of cases of men and women charged with the violation of the prohibition law, but the judge finds that most of his "clients" prefer to take their chance before a jury of their peers. That is natural when it is remembered that some of the peers may have strong leanings toward the popular sport known as bootlegging. Unfortunately Comptroller General McCarl has come to the definite conclusion that he has no discretion in the matter of allowing the judge of the District police court to draw on next year's appropriations for this year's crop of juries. Therefore, unless the bootlegging fraternity will "have a heart," confess their faults, and throw themselves on the mercy of the court, there will be just as many unpunished bootleggers on the 1st of next July as

It would naturally suggest itself to one unfamiliar with the peculiarities of appropriation bills, especially those designated as "deficiency bills," that the same conditions prevailing in the 88 district courts throughout the country might obtain in the District of Columbia. Most of the district courts have their calendars cluttered with cases of the United States versus J. Doe, R. Roe and other violators of statutes made and provided, and have no money with which to pay juries. it seems that the Supreme court of the District of Columbia, which is on a par with the United States' district courts, is provided for through the District of Columbia appropriation bill. Hence, while the 88 are cramped for funds with which to pay jurors and witnesses, the marshal of the local court has funds sufficient to keep the wheels of instica moving until the 1st of July without making the juries wait for their fees.

But the marshal of the District pays the expenses of his office out of another fund which reaches him through the Department of Justice. That fund, like so many others, is on the road to complete annihilation through the failure of that poor old deficiency bill that is responsible for so many of the ills that threaten veterans, courts, juries and all sorts and conditions of men and women. Marshal Snyder has figured it out that if he can cut expenses 2 per cent during the remainder of the fiscal year he can pull through in spite of the death of the deficiency bill.

COLLEGE MISFITS.

Few will disagree with the statement of William H. P. Faunce, president of Brown university, that 50 per cent of the youth of the nation who plan to enter college this fall would do better to go directly into business. The statement is backed up by statistics taken over nearly half a century, which indicate that most of the boys who go to college are failures in the sense that they fail to graduate. Therefore, according to this educator, the trouble is that we are sending too many of the wrong kind of boys to college.

Undoubtedly this is true, but the question naturally arises as to how the "proper type" of boy may be chosen. The old method, which established certain mental tests as a preliminary to matriculation, has been found wanting. Not many years ago the so-called "intelligence tests" were offered as a substitute, and were adopted by many colleges and universities Latest reports, however, indicate that this method is not perfect, and the question as to which boy is suited for college and which is not is still undecided.

American colleges and universities operate on the "survival of the fittest" basis. There is no reason whatsoever why they should do so. Yet until some pedagogic genius appears on the horizon with a scheme that will effectively remedy present evils, it is likely that thousands of misfits will find their way into college each autumn to drop out later with a toss of time and money to all concerned.

THE FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION.

In the Claire Furnace Co. case recently decided by the United States Supreme Court. Justice McReynolds gave a minority opinion that goes far in clarifying the powers and jurisdiction of the Federal Trade Commission.

The case arose over the authority of the trade commission to compel manufacturers to reveal their costs of production and in many instances their business methods. Chief Justice Taft dismissed the case on the ground that the commission should first refer its set of questions to the Attorney General for examination and approval.

Justice McReynolds goes further by assert ing that the commission had no right to ask such questions, and that Congress never granted such power of inquisition. He is of the opinion that Congress should take steps to curb the activities of the trade commission in this direction.

This minority opinion will strike a chord of sympathy in the mind of the business public, since the trade commission has wandered far from its original functions as intended by Congress. President Coolidge has already assisted the conservative members of the commission in confining its work to a fair and just consideration of all complaints, without undue publicity, and without positive injury to the institutions complained of.

When a certain form of radicalism toward corporations was in the ascendency, the trade commission pursued a course that gave the impression of an assumption of guilt before a hearing. Now the commission assumes innocence and avoids undue publicity until there is proof of guilt.

The minority opinion of Justice McReynolds strengthens the views of President Coolidge and the conservative members of the commission, who are opposed to injuring business concerns by means of publicity of alleged violation of law before proof of wrongdoing.

The Federal Trade Commission is one of the fit and timely subjects for the next Congress to consider.

TO SPEED UP FEDERAL CASES.

Some time ago Chief Justice Taft, of the Supreme Court, initiated a movement designed to expedite the wheels of justice through the lessening of the number of cases which may be brought to the court of last resort. As a result of this movement only eight classes of cases can now reach the Supreme Court as a matter of right. In all others, the court itself determines whether it will hear petitions for appeals.

But in spite of this elimination a full year is still required to reach a case after it has been docketed. With the subordinate tribunals, however, the congestion is very much greater, and lawyers from all over the country are loud in their complaints and appeals for relief.

In the hope that some plan may be perfected whereby this much desired relief may be assured Senator Norris, of Nebraska, chairman of the judiciary committee of the Senate, asked Chief Justice Taft to talk over with the other justices the idea of a general conference of lawyers whose practice is largely in the Federal courts, through which some plan may be outlined for the guidance of Congress at its next session in framing legislation for speeding up the work of the courts.

Justice Taft expressed himself as in hearty accord with the plan and has suggested that the proposed conference be held before the summer recess of the Supreme Court.

The details of the plan have not yet been worked out, but it is certain that every lawyer who holds a brief in a case involving the interpretation of the Federal statutes will give this movement his hearty support. The outcome should be legislation which will relieve the Federal courts from many of the burdens which now go so far toward retarding justice.

Welcome, President Machado!

Thieving Ladies

By ROBERT QUILLEN .

FEW years ago a police official in New York city said women are more inclined to steal than men. There was, of course, an indignant protest from the ladies. But other men, who know about crime, humble descendant of an old farmer backed up the New York official, and the ladies were silenced.

If the dear creatures are guilty, as charged, there must be a reason near a rustic bridge using his ancient for their disregard of property rights. The reason, which is obvious, musket with a will, begs to inquire why will serve as an alibi.

In the world's dawn all men were thieves, as animals are, in the sense that they had no regard for property rights. What they desired they took.

As civilization advanced, thleves were punished. Moreover, ethics were invented by those who had goods to protect. Men, as usual, made a virtue of avoiding punishment, and in the course of years honesty became an accepted rule of the game of life. But the game of life was played by men, and wholly under their control. They learned good sportsmanship, fair dealing and chivalry to avoid a beating; but the necessity that taught them virtue did not affect their women, for the women were playthings or beasts of burden who had no responsibility and merely took orders.

You can't develop character by letting somebody else do your thinking. Thus the ladies are centuries behind in their acceptance of the ethics ing an occasional mean cannon, a la dictated by hard knocks. They still feel free to do about as they does not have to give the public what please; feel that sex should exempt them from paying the fiddler; use sex as an excuse to get away with murder. Are they thieves? Only a few of them, and these of the lowest class. in memory of the "shot But many, many others, who rank high in the community and feel the world. wholly innocent of wrong doing, steal in a polite way.

They spend more than their husbands make. They buy things they know they never can pay for.

That's stealing, nothing less. To buy, knowing you never can pay, mit me to sincerely congratulate you and month after month to get deeper in the hole, enjoying good things at the expense of tradesmen who trust you, proves you wholly lacking in a sense of honor, and is no whit more respectable than breaking into a grocer's back door at night.

A movie magnate who says the boyish figure is losing popularity means that his contract stars are taking on flesh.

New York, April 21.—Spirited buillish demonstrations in a number of selected stocks featured today's active market if which the movement of prices quite generally was toward higher levels. Numerous new high records were scored among both industrials and carrier shares with net gains for the day sgain ranging up to 10 points. There were some laggards among the steels, oils and motors, but demand for the main body of stocks was lively and in some instances sensational. The day's turnover exceeded 2,200,000 shares.

The day's turnover exceeded 2,200,000 shares.

Traders on the constructive side found encouragement in the continued favorable credit conditions and enlarged dividend distributions. Among the day's developments of significance in the financial world were the reduction of the Bank of England's rediscount rate from 5 to 4½ per cent; further banking difficulties in Japan, which caused the yen to drop almost a full cent and resulted in the closing of all banks for two days; brisk advances in cotton and wheat prices and a strong bond market.

An early resumption of demand for the high-priced industrials and many of the favored carriers checked selling pressure and brought to an end a short period of unsettlement. The decision of the National Lead directors to decisive a 50 per cent stock dividend peried of unsettlement. The decision of the National Lead directors to declare a 50 per cent stock dividend started the buying ball rolling, although the action had been anticipated to some extent. The stock snapped 7 points upward, to 199, then gradually dropped back, to close at 193½, up 1½ net.

General Motors, after lifting its top in the early dealings and then hesitating for a protracted period, swung into the leadership of the industrial stating the final hour, twirling up for a net gain of almost 7 points over its recent high, and finally easing off sightly to close at 193½, a net gain of 5½, and a new high level. Price changes were small among the other members of the automobile group.

Commercial Solvents B moved forward for a net gain of 10 points in a comparatively small turnover. Dupont scored a new high record at 252½, a sain of 5 points net. Woolworth topped its recent maximum quotation with a gain of 3½ points. United States Steel common moved within a narrow range and independent steels lapered off again, with Youngstown losing 2½ net.

Rock Island was a feature of the marrow range and independent steels Lapered off again, with Youngstown loging 2½ net.

Rock Island was a feature of the carrier group as it crossed par with a liberal margin to spare and remained in new high territory. Other rails scoring new tops included Atlantic Coast Line, Atchison, Eric, Denver and Rio Grande preferred, Union Pacific, Texas & Pacific, St. Louis Southwestern, Missouri Pacific and others.

Practically the wnose carrier list was favored in the late träding.

American Sugar led a spirited advance in that group in the afternoon, rising to 91, the best price reached since the postwar depression period, and closing with a net gain of 1½. Great Western Sugar gained a full point. Cuban American preferred touched a new top at 104%, up 1½ net. Buying here was said to have been inspired by marked improvement in the sugar situation generally, as reflected in the litting of refined prices and strength in spot and future raws. Thus far the securities markets have paid almost no attention to the disastrous floods, destroying crops and other property and making thousands homeless in the Mississippi valley.

Lire, finished sharply up, sharing the foreign exchange market interest with the break in Japanese yen, which, incidentally, recovered about 20 points before the close. Pesets and Uruguayan pesses improved.

Record prices to which stocks of the Missouri Pacific and Southwestern roads recently have risen is believed in Wall street to reflect the expectation that forthcoming earnings reports for March will reveal record business during the month. Gross revenues of the Texas & Pacific, Guif Coast Lines, International Great Northern and Denver & Rio Grande Western are understood to have been substantially larger.

Frederick B. Patterson, president of the National Cash Register Co., and other officers were reelected today. Re-ports to the directors indicated that the company showed an increase of 12 per cent in earnings for the first quarter this year, compared with a year ago.

CURB MARKET REVIEW.

New York, April 21 (By the Associated Press).—Buying was on a broad scale in the curb market today, and prices displayed a strong undertone. Although strength was most pronounced among the public utilities, marked advances were common in nearly all divisions. Total sales rose to more than 350,000 shares.

were common in nearly all displaces. Total sales rose to more than 350,000 shares.
Favorable 1926 earnings reports was largely responsible for bullish enthusiasm among the utility shares. United Gas Improvement touched a new high price at 10134, and substantial gains were recorded by American Gas & Electric, American Light & Traction, Commonwealth Power and a few others. Pipe Line sharply, were mixed, Illinois Pipe Line touching another new 1927 maximum at 145½, while Prairie Pipe Line yielded more than 4 points on profit taking. Oil shares continued relatively inactive.

Motors inclined to heaviness, Stutz and Marmon receding a point or so. Central Aguirre Sugar, Midvale Co. of Delsware and Tubize Silk advanced materially, while Remington Noiseless Typewriter and Lackawanna securities were under selling pressure. Western Maryland first preferred touched a new record at 142%, then declined to 141½, a net gain of nearly 4 points. The Greater Philosophers

Kant 1724-1804

Such was the regularity of Immanuel Kant's mode of life that his neighbors set their timepieces at halfpast three when he start-ed on his daily walk.

In his "Critique Pure Reason' Kant re-futed two philosophical contentions; that of Berkeley which stated that there is no matter but only sensations from physical stimuli; and that of Hume which showed that the mind is but an abstract name for a abstract name series of ideas.

Kant routed Berkeley's views of differentiating between matter itself and the sense impressions that we receive from matter. He defended the exist-ence of mind against Hume's onslaught by showing it to be the co-ordination of experience.

The high factor of the First Mortgages offered by Swartzell, Rheem & Hensey Company stands unchallenged. Yet this time-tested organization could easily refute any unwarranted statement by pointing to a proud record of 58 years without loss to an investor.

LEAD IN UPWARD MOVE

iew Highs Are Scored by Carrier Issues in the Lively Trading.

UTILITIES LOANS ACTIVE

New York, April 21 (By A. P.).—
Prospects of an extended period of easy credit conditions encouraged trading in high grade investment securities in today's bond market, with the result that several issues displayed unusual strength. Hope was revived in some quarters that a reduction of the Federal Reserve Bank rediscount rate would soon follow the lowering of the Bank of England change, but against this was a strong feeling that no change is likely until such time as it would stimulate businesss rather than a security speculation. Total sales were the highest in several weeks, running over $16,000,000.

Strength of United States government issues was an outstanding feature. Fourth Liberty 4½s, of which sales totaled nearly $1,000,000, and Treasury 4½s, which gained nearly a point, were the leaders of the upward movement.

Several new high prices for the year or longer were established by railway issues, including Erie D 4s, which touched a record high at 113; Missouri-Kanass-Texas adjustment 5s, and Western Maryland 4s. Gains of a point or so were scored by Delaware & Hudson convertible 5s and Chicago Great Western 4s.

Favorable 1928 earnings reports, now being made public, stimulated public utility liens, Philadelphia Co. 5½s, Brooklyn Union Gas 5½s and Empire Gas & Fuel 6½s moving up 1 to 2 points, the first named chalking up a new high.

Industrial mortgages were irrgular. While Kelly-Springfield Tire 8s touched a new peak for the year. Granby Consolidated 7s fell off 3 points on profit taking.

Japanese 6½s and Tokyo 5½s and 5s were liquidated freely on reports of ed a new peak for the year. Granby Consolidated 7s fell off 3 points on profit taking.

Japanese 6½s and Tokyo 5½s and 5s were liquidated freely on reports of further unsettlement of financial conditions in Japan, but appeared to receive fair support.

Prompt sale was reported of the $5,000,000 Continental Securities Corporation 5 per cent debentures.

Reinstatement Possible After "Good Conduct' Period.

U.S.G.A. Official Sees No Fight With Sectional Groups.

EW YORK, April 21 (By A. P.)
Confronted by the possibility of a dissenting movement in the West over the issue of Mary K. Browne's fheligibility for amateur golf competition, the United States Golf Association today indicated through its secretary, H. H. Ramsay, that the door would be open to her reinstatement only after the usual three-year "good conduct" period.

He denied a report that Miss Browne would be able to obtain reinstatement only if her amateur tennis standing were restored. "We are not affiliated with the United States Lawn Tennis Association and will act entirely independent of it;" he said.

The reinstatement rule of the asso-ation provides that applicants "must ave acted so as to come within the efinition of an amateur goifer, for a eriod of three consecutive years im-ediately preceding the date of appli-

"The rule which applies to all cases where a golfer is deemed to have capitalized his skill will apply in the case of Miss Browne." explained Mr. Ramssy, who is chairman of the amateur status committees. "It is impossible to forecast what the executive committee would do—we will cross that bridge if and when we come to it."

Mr. Ramsay indicated that Miss Browne's general attitude toward all professional sports in the next three years would be weighted. "If she accepts offers to become a tennis instructor, said to have been made, this will of course, be considered," he continued.

O'Neil, Duplin Lead Attack on 2 Crimson Pitchers.

Hilltoppers Rally in 8th to Overcome 4-Run Alien Lead.

LeD by "Bucky" O'Neil and Pinch hitter Duplin, Georgetown university batters pounded two Harvard pitchers for six hits and five runs in the eighth inning of their game at the Hillitop yesterday, to win, 7 to 6.

Harvard looked a certain winner as Georgetown opened its half of the eighth frame, four runs behind. Cutts, Harvard moundsman, had granted but four hits, seemed working smoothly, and forced McLean, first up in this inning, to fly out to right field.

Glenn and Graham then singled cleanly to center field, and O'Neil brought the crowdt to its feet with a long home run to center field, Nork followed with another single, and Cutts was taken from the mound.

Barbee was greeted by a single from Hines' bat, and then hit Phelan to fill the bases. Donovan-struck out, but Duplin, batting for Loughman, drove a hard double to center field which scored Nork and Hines. McLean struck out, but Georgetown was in the lead and Burch, who went in for Loughman, retired three Harvard batsmen in order, to end the game.

The Cambridge nine scored three runs in the first inning on three hits and Tierney's error, and single markers in the fourth, fifth, and sixth innings. Good, hard hits were Harvard's scoring medium, four of their safe drives going for two bases, while Sarakov connected with a triple.

Hines made one of the best plays of the game when he threw from centerfield to Phelan's glove to catch Sarakov at the home plate when the latter tried to stretch his triple into a home run. The eighth inning spurt of the Hill-topper's was one fo the most stirring last-minute railies seen this season. It seemed a hopeless task to overhaul the Harvard nine, but Coach Egan's men fairly drove the ball all over the field in this inning in a desperate and successful effort to score before the drizzle which was falling changed to rain.

Gillespie pitched well after the PHILADELPHIA, April 21.—Having attended to the patriotic and social duties which have hampered them in the past two days the Yankees returned to normalcy here this aftermoon and larruped the McGillicuddy "antiques" by a score of 13 to 6 before a crowd estimated at 25,000 persons. It was a long game, with the score tied at 3-3 in the fourth and 6-6 in the fifth. But Gehrig hit a homer in the sixth, which gave the Yankees a three-run lead. And Tony Lazzeri came through with his first homer of the season in the eighth to make the lead more binding.

All of which gave Wilcy Moore, the big Oklahoma farmer, his first major league victory. Waite Hoyt had started the game for the Yankees and had pitched four and a third innings before it became necessary to take him out. Then Wilcy went in with two men on bases and the score tied and finished the game in grand style, allowing only one hit, a single by Ty Cobb in the lest inning.

Harvard Defeated, 7 to 4; Rains Halts Play; Linkous Star.

GAME

University of Maryland defeated Harvard at lacrosse yesterday at College Park, 7 to 4, in a game that was called after 50 minutes of play, a deluge of rain, in which it was impossible to see the ball, halting the contest.

The Old Liners outplayed Harvard by a much wider margin than the score would indicate, loafing along after gaining a 4-to-1 lead in the fir. twenty minutes of play. After that Maryland seemed content to match Harvard point for point, always coming back with a flash of clever lacrosse after the Crimson made a goal.

Harvard was first to score, golfing the ball into the netting after a Maryland defense man fumbled it in trying to make a toss to a team-mate down the field.

Then Maryland settled down to business, and by a well coordinated attack kept bombarding the Crimson goal until the Old Liners had piled up four markers. After that the Maryland team worked hard only to match every goal arvard scored.

Hollis Thurston to Pitch For Nats at Boston Today

Comeback of Former Chisox Flinger Pleases Harris-Shows No Signs of Sore Arm Which Handicapped Him in 1926.

In his game against Philadelphia, Thurston administered to that club its first shutout defeat of the season. It was no mean performance to blank hitters of the type of Cobb, Collins, Simmons, Lamar and most of Connie Mack's pinch batsmen after that group had feasted on New York pitching a few days before, although beaten.

Harris waxed enthusiastic over Thurston in a fanning bee this afternoon. "He is one of the smoothest working pitchers in the league today and knows enough about his work to hold a huge advantage over most batters." Harris declared.

"There is no trace of the soreness in his arm which caused his release by the White Sox last year," Harris continued, "and he says that he is in the best of condition. I have more confidence in him than any other on the staff at present."

The soreness in Thurston's arm, to which he referred, caused Manager Ray Schalk to trade the elongated right-hander to the National's last fall in exchange for Shortstop Roger Peckinpaugh. Leo Mangum, another pitcher, also was turned over to Washington, but he failed to make the grade with the team in the South.

Schalk possessed an abundance of pitchers at the time of the trade and virtually branded Thurston as through, but the latter has replied with an impressive "come-back" at the start of the season for the Nationals.

B OSTON. April 21.—Ten thousand persons spent the afternoon in the wind-swept stands of Fenway park today to see the Washington team play a baseball game while the Boston Red Sox algured in another American league hall game. That the contest was the opening American League game here did not affect the Red Sox. They lost to Washington, 7 to 4.

From the time that Gov. Alvin T. Fuller pitched the first ball for the Red Sox to start the season here and was yanked by Manager Carrigan immediately, Boston's pitchers were a source of delight for Washington's batters. Fred Wingfield was the first regular sacrificed to the Washington batt and Jack Russell and Tony Welzer followed. Washington won the game quickly. The Nationals scored two runs in the first inning and three runs in the second and then laid down their bats until the fourth, when they scored one more. Another run was made in the ninth.

Johnny Tobin, who used to play right field for Washington, was the game's outstanding hero. He saved Boston from a shutout by the expedient of hitting a home run into the right field stands. There happened to be three on bases at the time and Tobin was responsible for the four runs that Boston scored.

It was his only hit of the afternoon, but he chose the right spot.

The Red Sox only made four hits off George Murray, who started to pitch the game for Washington and was the victim of Tobin's home run. Until that time, Murray twirled a masterly game.

glove on the ground in the eighth in-ning. At bat Bluege was thrown out by Haney four times.

The game was the homecoming for Manager Bill Carrigan, who passed his halcyon days here leading Boston teams to American league pennants. His every move, physical or strategic, was greeted with a cheer.

Another capacity crowd witnessed the competition. The early morning rains had left the track a trifle slow for the first couple of races, but a bright sun and a steady wind served to dry it out rapidly until it was in fairly good condition by post time for the feature.

ONE DOCTOR'S PENALTY FOR DOING HIS DUTY.

T 4 o'clock on the morning of April 18, 1880, Dr. Bamuel A. Mudd, of Maryland, was called from his bed by a man in need of urgical care. Dr. Mudd lived on a arm in Maryland, 80 miles down the otomac from Washington. The kind-dector opened his door and cared for needy man. He was a horseman, a tranger, and he had broken a lower g. After being cared for he rode way. The doctor never saw his patient efore or after.

had discovered a number of calls in excess of her own, some of them to distant cities, and could not place a great many of them. She said she could not very well refuse the courtesy of a call to her various cilents. "But do you know, Miss Singleton, some of them really take too much advantage of the ortvilege," she added.

When I got her to tell me what she meant, she explained that if she were aummoned from the room certain women would fly to the telephone and send in one or two calls before she cauld get back. On one occasion she returned in time to catch the telephoner, who said she'd just been calling up her house and offered 5 cents. It happened that Madsme A. S. had been detained near the door of the room taking to another client and had heard three different numbers given, so she ventured to say. "Oh! I thought the line had been busy some time." The woman get a little red, but replied, "I had difficulty in getting my people to answer," and then requested her to hurry the treatment as she was late already.

Hurry the treatment as she was late already.

Who had managed to get in calls to Buffale and Philadelphia, Madame A. E. could not guass, but she said her bills were often allo or a si more than and could account for and ahe feared to oftend her customers if she even added to their accounts the calls she had heard them send.

Of course, this could be stopped by having the sort of telephone that can only be used when money is put in the slot. But can you imagine, among a circle of customers, presumably of good social standing, having to defend yourself against cheating?

I grant that people are forgetful, that they are inconsiderate and selfah, but that any one calling herself a lady should stoop to theve two or three telephone calls from her hair specialist or her beauty specialist or her manicure is moral than I can grant, and I swear

A recent magazine story tells of some of the experience of the inmates of this prison during the next four years. In September there was an epidemic of dengue. This fever is spread by a mosquito which is closely related to the yellow fever mosquito. Seventy-five per cent of the population had dengue.

Early in 1867 yellow fever broke out. The story says: "Nearly every man on the Island became infected. The hospital became crowded and panie set in. More than half the men sent to Bird Key died there. Five hundred at one time would scarcely cover the list of the sick. More hospitals were built, until four in all were overflowing."

About the time yellow fever was ending its feast of death a severe form of scurvy appeared. "Nearly 200 at one time had scurry, many dying of it."

The physician to the prison, Dr. Smith, died of yellow fever. Whereupon the ball and chain were removed from the complexion and hair of weary workers) and found her rather worried over her telephone bill. She had discovered a number of calls in the second of the sick, even as he had ministered unto John Wilkes Booth. All through the epidemic he tolled, given the second of the s

All through the epidemic he tolled, giving such relief as he could. He came down with yellow fever, but he presently recovered, and back to the hospital wards he limped to serve the stricken. He served on unti the epidemic was at an end and the scurvy was under control. Then back he went to his dungeon cell and its chains. A petition for his pardon, signed by all on Dry Tortugas island, brought no prompt action. In 1869 he was pardoned, along with others whose punishment for the Lincoln killing had been excessive or unwarranted.

Perhaps humanity is too wise for Dr. Mudd's experience ever to be repeated, but that is conjectural.

Humanity is too wise for that yellow fever experience ever to be repeated. It has been nearly 60 years aince yellow fever laid men low as it did at Tortugas. Dr. Mudd wrote of the millions of misquitose on the islands. There is no longer any yellow fever thereabouts to infect mesquitoes and there are few inhabited places where "millions of mosquitoes" are tolerated. The prophecy about yellow fever is not conjectural.

No longer do we hear of "900 cases of seurvy, many dying of it," in prisons. Humanity is too wise for that, we should never hear of it occurring again. That is not conjectural.

I wish I could say something of the sort about dengue.

A Tired Business Man.

ances in business are many; that his opportunities for questionable adventure are unlimited; and that if such a woman as you describe could find favor in his sight, then indeed even the cook in my kitchen might represent a real danger! I should accept the fact of my husband's ability to take care of himself and of our love. I should be entirely above listening to reports on the opinions of the office employes, and utterly atrene in my own ability to enally the undivided love of the man who was mine. Then if a big Bertha finally get him I should at least know that I had enjayed him while I had him—without constant worry! What do you think of that?

The public utilities commission yesterday authorized joint operation by the two street car companies of a new motorbus line to extend from Pennsylvania avenue and Seventeenth street southwest to Benning road and Kenilworth avenue northeast.

May 6 was fixed for a public hearing on the proposed changes in routing of three one-man street car lines of the Washington Railway & Electric Co. The suggested new arrangement is to have the Brookland cars travel to the wharves, the LeDroit park cars to stop at the Treasury except in rush hours, when they will go to the Bureau of Engraving, and the Anacostia line go to Eleventh and Monroe streets northwest.

At first it was decided that the Capital Traction Co. should actually operate the line, dividing costs and revenues with the Washington Railway & Electric Co. But, after the commission had adjourned, a letter was received from President William F. Ham, of the latter company, saying that it was in a more advantageous position to conduct the operation. The former decision may be reviewed.

People's Counsel Raiph B. Fleharty filed a request with the commission to permit him to engage the services of E. F. Progressive Club Official Declares Walker Will Be Chosen for Office.

CARTER CAUSES SPLIT

Fred S. Walker, a candidate for reelection as secretary-treasurer of the Columbia Typographical union, No. 101, represents the progressive element in the union and will be reelected. John N. Breen, an attorney who is president of the Printers Progressive club, declared in a letter to the editor of The Post yesterday. Mr. Breen protested against what he believed to be an effort to favor the candidacy of George G. Seibold, former secretary-treasurer of the union, to return to the office he occupied for 22 years until ousted last year by Mr. Walker. He said stories of the preelection fight in the union were too favorable to Mr. Seibold.
George Carter, public printer, is the principal bone of contention in the election, but Mr. Breen spoke in his defense and declared that candidates who were supposed to be "Carter candidates" were actually the representatives of the progressive element in the union, which had decided to bury the hatchet between the printers and the union. Members of the old regime, of which Mr. Seibold was one, Mr. Breen said, had gained the union members nothing through their fighting.

The dearth of Wahneta, or conservative candidates, he declared, was dictated solely by the fact that "the Wahneta faction had proved, themselves incompetent and expensive luxuries."
The strength of the progressive faction, he continued, had been born of the fact that that element had been able to produce results of monetary value to Fred S. Walker, a candidate for re

He resented the imputation that the printer employes of the government printing office had yielded their independence and that the fear of the displeasure of Public Printer Carter had deterred printers from seeking office in the union.

However, Baltimore business men are aware of the advantages of an exclusive air mail service and are making a strong bid for it. In case they should obtain the stop, Baltimore would be the only stop between Philadelphis and Riehmond, since it is unlikely in any case, it is said, that stops shall be made at both Washington and Baltimore. Frank Branch Riley, of Portland, Oreg., will deliver an illustrated travislogue on "The Lure of the Great Northwest" tonight at 8 o'clock in the auditorium of Central High school.

be made at both Washington and Baltimore.

Local business men, on the other hand, have given the matter little thought, it seems. Some vague propositions have been made to establish an air port here by congressional enactment.

However, a high official of the Postoffice Department declared yesterday that it is unlikely that Congress will porvide an air port for the use of Washington. It would be like providing a terminal railway station, he said. Contractors for air mail routes are common carrier. They carry mail on contract just as railroads do. The government, then, is not expected to appropriate money to build facilities which will be used for private aggrandizement, he said.

This places the situation squarely up which will be used for private aggrandizement, he said.

This places the situation squarely up to the District of Columbia and asks local interests the question whether the service is of sufficient interest to them, to build the air-port facilities. Railroads never have multiplied half so fast as air mail lines are multiplying now. Air transportation is sure, it is declared, to reach considerable proportions. The air line which will pass over Washington—whether it stops here or not—at first will carry nothing but mail, but will carry passengers after it becomes more firmly established, it is said.

The Town Players of the Brookland Episcopal parish will present "The Hidden Guest," a three-act mystery play, tonight in the Church of Our Savior, 1616 Irving street northwest.

The Rev. Edmund H. Stevens, rector of the church, is the director. The Town Players were organized more than a year ago. Alice Edmonds, Doris Zabel, Sussan Baldwin, Emma Edmonds, Grace Stevens, Clarence Ruebsam, William Stimpson, William Clayton, Lawrence Lewis and Edwin Stimpson will have parts in the play.

s be that Washington shall obtain the stop. Officials believe that a temporary field can be found here for immediate I use when the line begins operation this summer. It is believed likely that means will be found for the establishment of a permanent field. Yet it was admitted that much depends on what Baltimore does to obtain the stop, and what the contractor finds here.

Unless Washington enters the lists against Baltimore and provides facilities for a first-class permanent landing field, it is considered highly question able whether the Capital shall not lose the mail honor which has been given it. of the society to a close.
